Art Unit: 1771

1. Claims 1-10 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4, 7-31 of copending Application No. 10/366,051. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each discloses a two layer structure for use in absorbent articles comprising permeable layers wherein the layers are in contact with each other and wherein one of the layers comprises a plurality of projecting macrofeatures.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

2. Claims 2 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 2 and 7 the claimed structure is not clear because it is not clear what is meant by "an area defined within each of said plurality of macrofeatures".

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Thomas, U.S. Patent No. 6,242,074. Thomas discloses an apertured polymeric film having a planar surface and plurality of protuberances extending from the planar surface bonded to a fibrous material such as a nonwoven web or loose fibers which are applied to the film and which contact all or a portion of the film. The points at which the fibrous material extends over the apertures would correspond to the claimed areas within the macrofeatures where the first layer is not in contact with the second layer. See abstract, figure 4A, col. 3, lines 1-46. The film comprises a plurality of protuberances which correspond to the claimed first and second macrofeatures and they can be arranged in a pattern, (see 6, lines 17 – 43). The material of Thomas may be used as the topsheet for an absorbent article such as a diaper.
